

Disinfection unit stainless steel

Product sheet

If the hygiene requirements are high, you want your employees to strictly observe the rules. A special disinfection unit provides your employees with clear instructions and the accompanying disinfection accessories. The stainless steel MediQo-line disinfection unit consists of a stainless steel base plate, column and presentation screen. You attach the simple hygiene instructions to the presentation screen, so that it is clear to every employee what is expected of him or her. The holder on the column is intended for the MediQo-line dispenser. Your employees like to know where they stand. Do not you too? Therefore ask the quotation here for the stainless steel disinfection unit and enjoy the convenience and clarity of a clearly defined hygiene policy.
